

Ibuprofen (oral)

Motrin®

Advil®

- You may give your child ibuprofen if your child is uncomfortable with a fever.
- It should not be used in children less than 6 months old without first discussing with your practitioner
- Use the ibuprofen dosing chart below. Use your child's weight to select the dose.
- You may repeat the dose of ibuprofen every 6-8 hours. Do not use it more than 4 times in 24 hours.
- When giving the infant's or children's suspension, shake well before using.
- Make certain that you always check the concentration (strength) of the ibuprofen product before each use.
- Keep all medications out of the reach and sight of children. Always check the label before use.
